SIR DAVID MADDEN (Co-Chair)

joined the UK Diplomatic Service in 1970, and has extensive experience of working in places on the brink of break-up (Yugoslavia in the 1980s), those divided (Berlin in the 1970s, Cyprus, Bosnia and Herzegovina), and those where there are regional tensions. As British High Commissioner in Cyprus (1994-1999), he played a full role in negotiations on a Cyprus settlement and EU accession. As British Ambassador in Greece (1999-2004), he helped the Greek government achieve a break-through against terrorism. He has a degree in the History of Art from the Courtauld Institute and is a published author (The Mystery of Edwin Drood, Unthank Books, 2011), and Balkan Legacies of The Great War: The Past Is Never Dead (with Othon Anastasakis and Elizabeth Roberts, Palgrave Macmillan, 2016). He also co-edited The Legacy Of Yugoslavia: Politics, Economy And Society (I.B. Tauris/Bloomsbury, 2020). He is Vice Chair of Compassion in World Farming.

LORD LOTHIAN PC KC DL (Co-Chair)

was first elected to the UK Parliament in 1974 (as Michael Ancram MP) and served as a Conservative Member of Parliament until his retirement at the May 2010 General Election. He was subsequently appointed to the House of Lords as a Life Peer. He has held the posts of Chairman of the Conservative Party, Deputy Leader, Shadow Foreign Secretary and Shadow Secretary of State for Defence. On stepping down from the Front Bench in 2005, Lord Lothian was appointed to the Intelligence and Security Committee of Parliament, to which he was reappointed in 2010, in 2015 and in 2017. In 1993, he was appointed Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State at the Northern Ireland Office, and in January 1994 was appointed Minister of State at the same office. As such, he was responsible for the negotiations leading to the Northern Ireland Peace Process, and was the first British minister to meet with Sinn Fein and the IRA for 25 years. He has been Vice President of the Anglo-Jordanian Society since 2016. He maintains a keen interest in international affairs and he is the Chairman of Global Strategy Forum, an independent, non-party political forum, dedicated to the promotion of fresh thinking and active debate on foreign affairs, defence and international security issues, which he founded in May 2006.
